Short support description	The aim of the endowment was to create foundations for mutual co-operation and education in the field of drug development to raise awareness of this issue among students of medicine, professionals and general public. Thus, a system involving universities, secondary medical schools, health care facilities, pharmaceutical companies and also professionals in the fields of regulation of drugs or research and development has been set up. We continue to develop their cooperation. And not only that. We realize that the availability of information for both professionals and patients in different fields of healthcare should be significantly better. We want to change that through complex training of professionals and also general public, and through support of independent access to information.
